/// The Undefeatable Elite Hacking Agency

Show:

THE UNDEFEATABLE ELITE HACKING AGENCY is a buddy comedy about two guys: Frank and Jonathan - two of the undisputed best computer hackers on the planet, who by twenty years age - wound up incarcerated in one of the worst high security federal prisons in the world. Their crime? Breaking into everything from the NSA to cancelling the judge presiding over their case Viagra prescription. Sprung from prison: broke, on parole, unable to hold a job, and a score to settle with every federal security agency - and there are a lot - they do what any red blooded American would do. They going into business and start the world's first Hacker Detective Agency!

Frank and Jonathan are misanthropic millennials, that like most of their generation, somehow are perpetually out of work with zero dough. They are rebellious and cocksure - and they argue with each other like close friends do - but their escapades through the underworld of hacking and their time in jail has bonded them together like a dysfunctional family who although hate each other at times will do anything for each other.

Each episode Jonathan and Frank get a case that always leads to outrageous adventures that never seem to go quite as expected. They solve the problems with real life hacker-craft and tech skills that every geek will recognize as authentic. Anything can happen in this crazy world: Breaking into 3-letter agencies, moving satellites, siphoning money from banks, stealing hit movies and songs before they are released, or even hacking dating apps pathetically for a date.

With each case they wrap up, Frank and Jonathan seems to make their list of enemies continue to grow: Three Letter Agencies, Rival Detective Agencies, Ex-Girlfriends, the Police, the FBI, Criminals, the Baristas at Starbucks; They just can't seem to NOT get in trouble. In fact, their adventures lead to an ongoing rivalry with a hacker group [AYC] that Frank and Johnathan keep foiling their plans for world domination.

Tone:

THE UNDEFEATABLE ELITE HACKING AGENCY is buddy comedy that is unpredictable, outrageous, offensive, hilarious, dysfunctional, fun, and super adventurous. It delves into the dark world of the underground of Hacking and Grey Area Detective work, a world most people never even knew existed. Told through the eyes of millennial ne'er do wells who don't even know how to wipe their asses right yet, but have the power to take down corporations and countries from their computers.

THE UNDEFEATABLE ELITE HACKING AGENCY is like the Odd Couple if Oscar and Felix were raised up computers instead of radio, or Moonlighting if it was written by Reddit and 4Chan and paid in Bitcoin. It's a modern day Blues Brothers that uses hacking instead of music and instruments. Two young hackers who still eat Doritos for dinner unleashed on the world of corporate espionage, covert action and criminal activity, what could go right?

Characters:

Frank: (netw1z) A happy go lucky guy who always thinks the best shit is going to happen next. An excellent programmer , sometimes Frank is easily distracted by the big picture. He dreams of never touching a fucking computer again , but unfortunately , he has to play the cards given him for now. He has a real streak for dangerous situations that he always drags Jonathan into , because honestly there isn't anyone else in the world he feels like family for.

Frank comes from a low income family, his dad is a plumber who beat him because he was into computers, thinking he was going to go the way of Oscar Wilde typing on the damn keyboard all the time. As a result, Frank developed a tough outer exterior and a sunshine perspective on the world, that sometimes blinds him to the needs of others because of his self absorbed nature and avoiding tackling his problems before they get him in trouble.

Jonathan: (megad00d) A slightly autistic kid and brooding nihilist who always sees the bad side of the situation. Life's glass is not just half-full for him, but shattered on the ground giving him splinters . He is kinda like a high-tech Eeyor (from Winnie the Pooh) He is the more technically inclined between them. He isn't really fond of being put in dangerous and risky situations by Frank.

He is super guarded, but he sees Frank kinda like a brother. His parents were both therapists and asked him every fucking minute of the day what he was feeling - so Jonathan really hates emotions. Computers are a great escape for him and coding is like an orgasmic drug for him , but he is working hard on coming out of his shell. One thing that helps him in this regard is pretending to be other people , when he social engineers or tries to sneak into places.

Landlord Lady: She is a recluse who literally is one the ugliest woman the world has ever seen. That sounds mean but wait till you see her - Jesus Fucking Christ. She rents Frank and Jonathan their apartment. She is a nosy little son of a bitch that gives Frank and Jonathan hell. She is always blackmailing them to pay her more money , by threatening to report them to authorities - but underneath her tough exterior she has a secret heart of gold and would take a bullet for Frank and Jonathan. When she isn't cranky or angry or demanding her overdue rent , she can act like a mysterious Socrates when given a cigarette , and dispense amazing little pieces of logic that help Frank and Jonathan solve cases.

u4ea[AYC]: Is steely leader of the international hacker group AYC: Angry Young Computers. Everyone is scared of them , including Anonymous. U4ea is from the Ukraine and was sent to a brutal prison for hacking as an innocent young kid. He dreamed of being a cosmonaut and came out a hard core criminal who wants to shove a dick up the world's ass - and AYC is the group he formed to do it. U4ea used to be in the same group with Frank and Jonathan before they went to jail. Their shared jail experiences gives him a begrudging respect for them, but it also means they are both very aware of each others tell-tale signs of their skills at work and he won't let them get in the way of making the world pay for causing him pain and embarrassment of going to prison.

f1stin[AYC]: Is the unpredictable first lieutenant of u4ea, f1stin prides herself for being the first transexual hacker in the world who is any good. She's a very easy to upset when teased, especially since her name was supposed to be FIRST IN , but everyone called her fisting. She is really good at what she does, but she also is slowly developing a crush on Jonathan, even though they have never met - just on the way he c0des his sexy warez.

FBI Task Force Leader Richard Flagg: He runs the FBI cybercrime unit. He's real stars and bars type. He changed his last name to Flagg to reflect how patriotic he is. He got his promotion to running the cybercrime unit from busting Frank and Jonathan. He is always sniffing around to send them back to jail hoping for another gigantic promotion - even though technically he only caught them because of an informant. Richard has a well greased network of stool pigeons he relies on to fight cybercrime, but this moron and his unit couldn't track a baby with a stolen password.
